Regulation (EU) 2023/998 on the general safety of products "GPSR"

Given that the cosmetics sector is in fact regulated at European level by EU Regulation 1223/2009 and its subsequent regulatory provisions, which contain the same objectives set out in the regulation in question on product safety, the application of which starts on 13 December 2024, no obligations other than those already in place and implemented by M.MAGI SRL are foreseen.

However, M.MAGI SRL wishes to point out and recommend:

- The most effective way to check the quality of a cosmetic product and your individual safety is to read the list of ingredients on the label. The description of the components is done following an international standard: the INCI (International Nomenclature of Cosmetic Ingredients).
- Carefully follow the indications and instructions printed on the package, on any leaflet, on any advice from a beauty operator, and on the website www.mmagi.it.
- Product for the face, contained in a PE bottle, with a safety cap.
- External use, do not ingest. It is not a food!
- Product intended for home use by an adult audience: keep away from children.
- Specific liquid solution, as indicated in the media indicated above.
- Apply the product to healthy skin, therefore not damaged, free from wounds, abrasions and burns.
- It is advisable to carry out a simple test before using the product on the face, especially for the most sensitive subjects, testing the product on a small portion of skin, on the forearm or neck, and wait the following 24 hours to ascertain any allergic reactions.
- If the product should inadvertently come into contact with eyes and/or mucous membranes, rinse the affected area thoroughly with fresh water.
- If due to some incorrect maneuver the product should be inadvertently ingested, present yourself with the composition/ingredients of the product, printed on each primary or secondary package, to a poison center of a hospital. In the absence of hospitals, induce vomiting.
- After applying the product to the face, it should be dabbed with a cotton ball or directly with the hands. The product is left on the face after application.
- Do not exceed the times and quantities of product to be applied, in relation to the type of skin, which are indicated.
- Take care to close the container well after use, so as not to create oxidation or contamination of the product.
- Do not exceed, from the moment of opening the product package, the time of use of the product indicated on the package by the PAO, of 6 months.
